Dear Gardner Road Families –

Springtime is one of my favorite seasons of the year. It brings new flowers, warmer weather and a sense of renewal. This spring also brings us new challenges with learning at home instead of at school. I have to say that I could not be any prouder of every student, parent, community member and staff member over the course of the last few weeks. We have shown that we together can make the best of any situation for our kids. We will continue this journey throughout the month as we look to provide the best learning experiences and opportunities for our kids from a distance. Please be on the lookout for additional communication from me, your child's teacher and our district office as we navigate what distance learning looks like.

We will be learning about Microsoft Teams which will be the platform that your child will connect with your teacher on. Training and information will be coming home later this week on how to use this platform as a parent and as a student. We will all be learning and exploring how to complete work on the computer and off the computer while balancing the needs of everyone in your household. We will be learning how to connect and stay social with one another, especially our classmates and teacher while we empower one another. We will continue to focus on our health in a physical and emotional ways. We will learn new things about our character and how to excel with a growth mindset. Most importantly, please know that we are a community of strength and we got this. Together we will achieve things previously thought to be unimaginable and we will come away stronger from this experience. We will come home (to Gardner Road) again and that will be the celebration I cherish the most!

Please also know that we understand that our Golden Stars will work differently for you at home than they do at school. We applaud all of our families out there for becoming a new kind of teacher to your child. We know it is not easy, but please rely on us. Remember a few great tips. Playing is learning and the learner is the doer. Be on the lookout for many links and ideas shared on our Facebook and Twitter pages. My favorite resource so far is <https://wideopenschool.org>

Please contact me if you need anything, have any questions or would just like to chat about our school/your child.

Gardner Road Main Office Updates:

Spring New York Assessment Dates (Grades 3 & 4):

ALL have been cancelled for this school year.

Parent Input – Class Placements for 2020 - 2021:

In the spring, we will begin to look at classroom placements for the year 2020 - 2021. We use a team approach for class placements and it is a long process. As you might imagine, we must take many things into consideration when making placements. We welcome your input on the learning environment your child learns best with in and you are welcome to share this in a letter to me. Please do not include in your letter a request for a certain teacher as we do not honor these requests. Please know that we do value parent input and if you have any information about your child you want us to consider during placement, please put it in writing and drop it off to the main office by Friday, May 1st.

2020-2021 HCSD Budget Development

In efforts to prevent the spread of COVID-19, the state has postponed state-wide school budget votes until at least June 1. You may view preliminary budget information on the district website at <https://horseheadsdistrict.com/Budget2020-21.cfm?school=District>, but please note that information does not yet include current updates on state aid or information received since the closure of schools. Information will be updated once we receive information from the state. Questions? Email hcsdinfo@horseheadsdistrict.com or call (607) 739-5601, x4295.

Grade 4 to Grade 5 Transition Update

A presentation and self-guided tour was scheduled on March 23rd for all 4th grade students and families. Due to the extended school dismissal, that event needed to be cancelled. The Intermediate School plans to reschedule for a later date once we resume normal activities. A flyer and email will be sent home with more details when the date is finalized. As a reminder, if you have any input regarding your child's placement at the Intermediate School please mail it to the school ASAP. You may also email your letter directly to Mr. Bostwick mbostwick@horseheadsdistrict.com. The Intermediate School will not take specific requests for teachers.

NEW YORK STATE RELEASES NEW EXAMS APRIL 1ST

In a surprising move today, New York State Regents decided to embrace the needs of our digital native students by allowing the use of emojis in essay answers on the Regents exams.

“As we continue our transition to a future of all computer-based testing, it only makes sense to allow students more ways of expressing their ideas”, said an assistant to the Chancellor of the Regents. Students are spending many hours a day using these symbols to communicate so it is only natural that they would eventually work their way into scholarly articles and papers.

Educators have expressed concerns about the variety of emojis and avatars that students might use so the Regents have established a recommended list of emojis that students may freely use.

BRADFORD CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

No Crying Over Technology Skills

DISTRICT SPOTLIGHT

APRIL

Through the use of Keyboarding Without Tears, Bradford Central School is working to create technology savvy students who not only possess the skills to be proficient and successful keyboarders, but also students who can safely navigate the internet and all that it brings to their lives.

Keyboarding has always been an important skill, but with many districts now moving towards computer-based assessments, it is necessary for our students to master keyboarding skills. On top of computer-based assessments, students are increasingly being required to move away from paper and pencil assignments and complete more work on devices. Keyboarding proficiency is a necessary skill to help them be successful in these endeavors.

For these reasons, Bradford Central School has decided to take a proactive stance in their teaching of keyboarding skills as well as Digital Citizenship components to their students. Society currently dubs students as "digital natives" due to the fact that they are being brought up in a world where they are surrounded by technology almost from birth. However, it would be good for us to remember that being a digital native doesn't necessarily mean that they have learned the appropriate skills and behaviors to be successful in the digital world into which they were born.

At Bradford, students are being led through the Keyboarding Without Tears Program through both direct instruction as well as individual progression. Students have individual accounts where they can work at their own pace at designated times of the day. On other occasions, the Instructional Technology teacher, leads direct instruction on keyboarding skills such as finger placement, home row, capitalization and punctuation. Digital Citizenship components are incorporated into many of the lessons to provide students with an understanding of how to be safe and responsible while online.

Most recently, students in grades 3-6 at Bradford completed activities surrounding their digital impressions and how the things they do online now, will stay with them throughout their lives. Many students were surprised to know that they are creating a digital footprint (positive or negative) through their use of various social media sites such as Facebook, Snapchat, and YouTube. Students in grades K-2 were led through a lesson entitled "Stop the Strange" where they were presented with various scenarios and asked to discuss and decide which of those situations were strange and when they should consult with an adult.

Just Use Your Common Sense!

PART 2

This article continues our quick look at all of the resources at CommonSense Education, one of our favorites Digital Citizenship sites.

Last month, we focused on the excellent curriculum resources at CommonSense (<http://go.gstric.org/307-dc-curriculum>). Now we will turn our attention to the video resources at CommonSense.

The online safety video shown here, about is an example of the high quality information shared in many of the CommonSense video offerings. In this example, a teacher is speaking about an incident where a student from a different district came to their campus looking for a female student who had left her location services turned on on her mobile device. <http://go.gstric.org/308-video>

The Classroom Video page for Digital Citizenship hosts a lot of videos on a lot of DC topics that are anywhere from 54 seconds long to 10 or 11 minutes.

<http://go.gstric.org/308-dc-video>

For parents, CommonSense has a large collection of movie reviews for current films that have been given ratings for age level and content. <http://go.gstric.org/308-movies>

Plagiarism is a Real Concern in Higher Education

Submitted by Kelly White, ELA Teacher
Bush Campus Career and Technical Education

Ten Career and Technical Education alumni recently returned to the Bush Education Center at GST BOCES to offer advice to current students. The discussion was moderated by Allen Orshal, audio media instructor. A wide variety of academic and college life issues were discussed during the two-hour panel. One of the hot topics during this informative session concerned high school versus college writing.

Several students noted that plagiarism is an issue on college campuses. One noted that his roommate freshman year “got busted” for plagiarizing an essay. Another described “mass plagiarism” in one of his classes, “and they all failed.”

One panelist described a roommate who was “lazy and spent all of his time playing Counter Strike and sleeping” while another noted that students in one class were “caught copying exact papers.” However, other plagiarism issues were not so blatant. Some alumni reported some students just didn’t know how to quote correctly or didn’t cite correctly. One panelist “was told I plagiarized my entire paper because of one wrong citation.”

The panelists described consequences ranging from failing the class to being expelled from school or fired from a job, and they urged high schools to clearly explain the consequences and to make it clear that plagiarism will likely be caught. In addition to more instruction on citation, they advocated a strict response to plagiarism. One alum urged educators “Don’t treat plagiarism as a minor issue while saying it’s a major one. Actions speak louder than words.”

“I was told I plagiarized my entire paper because of one wrong citation.”

“Don’t Do It!”

Some advice from College Students

Several students noted plagiarism checkers like Turnitin can help. They explained the software has helped them recognize similarity in their writing.

A final topic included the panel member’s advice about the dangers of plagiarism. Overwhelmingly, the advice was clear: Don’t do it!

One panelist noted “In college, it’s not a joke. You can be kicked out of not only the class but from school.” Another panelist spoke of the consequences in the workplace saying, “Your co-workers will lose respect for you and you will be fired. Don’t do it.”

HOME EDITION

Use Your Digital Citizen Tools to Sharpen Your Skills

● Take Care of Yourself

Listen to the advice to stay home. Practice social distancing. Call the doctor if you get sick.

Take time to talk to your family. Take time to enjoy things you like to do like reading, writing, and listening to music. Re-connect with friends

Find a balance in your life between technology and simple things.

● Maintain Your Privacy

Stay calm. Keep a cool head. There has been an increase in online and phone scamming recently. Scammers use fear to trick you into doing things and rushing you into decisions.

If you start using new sites be hesitant to enter your personally identifiable information until you have checked their privacy policies. If you are using them for school work make sure they are compliant with ED Law 2-D.

● Get Good Information

Use your detective skills to weed out fake news. There has been a lot of fake info about the virus. Make sure your sources are reliable.

Support sites with good info by giving them likes and ratings that help to promote them.

Re-post and re-tweet good info and positive messages. Report fake sites and news to the platforms they are exploiting.

● Use Your Tech Wisely

Even though you may be in quarantine you do not need to be in isolation.

Use your phone to call friends, neighbors, and family that you can't visit in person.

You can use platforms like zoom, facebook, and messenger to meet with groups of people online. Churches and business groups are already using them.

● Use the Web to Help Others

If you are able the web has lots of sites where you can donate to organizations that are doing good in this nation, and in our local communities. If you aren't in that position you can find groups that will accept donations of things other than money, like volunteer, time or materials. If you can't get out there are lots of support groups and organizations that will let you participate in online forums, chats, and blogs. Put positive messages out there in this time.
